Associate of Arts

TRANSFER PARTNERS

The Community College Completion program with the University of Toledo umbrella transfer agreements with the University of Toledo and Bowling Green State University; GOV 100, "Introduction to Comparative Politics," GOV 111, "Introduction to American Government," GOV 205, "State and Local Government," and GOV 207, "Contemporary Global Issues" have received transfer assurance guide (TAG) and Ohio transfer module (OTM) designations from the state of Ohio's Office of Regents.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES FOR 4-YEAR GRADUATES

Colleges and universities in the U.S. do not award bachelors degrees in the academic discipline of law. But most political science departments at U.S.-based colleges and universities have pre-law concentrations. A student who receives a bachelor's degree in political science can obtain a position as a corporate manager, a corporate information analyst, a corporate adviser for governmental relations, a CIA analyst, a financial consultant, a foreign service officer, an immigration officer, a legislative analyst, a lobbyist, a paralegal, a policy analyst, and a research analyst. However, a student does not have to major in political science in order to apply to law school. Students from a variety of majors, such as philosophy, engineering, or biology, can apply to law school.

SALARY

According to data from the Bureau of Labor Statistics Occupational Outlook, in 2012, lawyers earned an average of $113,530. This information can be accessed online at: <http://www.bls.gov/ooh/legal/lawyers.htm#tab-5>. Data from the Bureau of Labor Statistics Occupational Outlook, in 2012, legal assistants and paralegals earned an average of $46,990. This information can be found on the following link: <http://www.bls.gov/ooh/legal/paralegals-and-legal-assistants.htm>. Moreover, according to the Wall Street Journal, the median salary for an entry-level position that requires a bachelor's degree in political science is $40,800 and the median salary for a mid-career position that requires a bachelor's degree in political science is $78,200.
